want to become involved in the matter unnecessarily, but reported what he had seen to the hotel management when he read in The Constitution Monday that an inquest was being held.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller said they had noticed several young men in the room occupied by Todd early in the evening and had remarked that they should pull down their shades while dressing, that they went out later to dinner and a movie and when they returned to their room looked out across the court and saw Todd leave his window.

Miller said that the young man climbed around the two-foot wall space between the two windows and began kicking at the screen of Todd's room and trying to raise it, and that after he got into the room he disappeared a moment then appeared in front of the window again with a handbag in his hand. Both witnesses said that Todd took several articles out of the handbag and left them in the room, then relocked it and started out the window. Both said that he appeared to be staggering while in Todd's room.

Several of Todd's fellow students appearing before the coroner's jury testified as to Todd's good reputation at Clemson.

Loeb, whose handbag was found beside Todd's body Sunday morning, was not called as a witness, although he and two women, Miss Ruth Yancey and Mrs. Frances Knight, had been held until the time the eye-witnesses were discovered. All three were released after Mr. and Mrs. Miller had told detectives their story.

Mrs. Knight had told detectives that while she and Miss Yancey were with Todd earlier in the evening the youth had struck Mrs. Knight after having accused her of stealing his purse. The purse in question was found in Todd's room.

Todd came to Atlanta with other Clemson students Saturday to witness the Clemson-Tech football game. His schoolmates testified he had been drinking and that his condition was such they requested the hotel detective to lock him in his room while they went out to dinner, but that they did not become alarmed when they found him absent from the room upon their return about 1 o'clock Sunday morning.

ALMAND APPROVES LOCAL OPTION LAW

New Legislator Plans To Restore Liquor Status Prior to 1907.

Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward, will initiate a move to procure local option for Fulton county, in so far as sales of intoxicants are concerned, he announced at Monday afternoon's session of council following his statement by Bond Almand, newly-elected Fulton legislator, that he would favor such a program.

McCutcheon told council he is considering the legal aspects of the resolution, he proposes to present as a result of the 3-to-1 vote on the state dry law repeal referendum in the September 26 primary here.

Almand, in his first public utterance, said he favors a reversion to local option laws in effect in Georgia in 1907, and that it could, he believes, be accomplished without a state-wide referendum.

Text of Almand's statement follows: "I have been asked so many times recently what is my position on repeal of the state prohibition law that I am going to state my views on the subject to be brought before the next legislature. In the anomalous and paradoxical situation of cities licensing the sale of beer, prohibited by state law, and the non-enforcement of the prohibition law in sections where the sentiment is against the law, the time has come when the legislature must remove the present prohibition law in order that regulation and control will take the place of tacit law violation.

"In the repeal or modification we have got to take into consideration those sections of our state that desire complete prohibition, as well as the sections that want control in the plan I propose this can be done without a state referendum and by an act of the legislature.

"In 1907 the legislature passed what was known as the local option law whereby any county in Georgia was permitted by popular referendum to prohibit the sale of intoxicants in its territory. At the time of the passage of the state-wide prohibition law in 1907 about 75 per cent of the counties in Georgia were dry under this local referendum.

"Under the plan I have in mind the state-wide prohibition law would be repealed and the local option law enacted or reinstated. In this bill each county which is dry under local option would be restored to the status they occupied in 1907 and would remain dry until they by their vote elected to repeal their local option law. All counties that sold intoxicants, and this would include Fulton, under license in 1907, would be restored to their status as licensed counties. This would create two classes of counties—as we had under local option—licensed and unlicensed. This could be done without a state-wide referendum and leave each county to determine for itself whether it wanted to be dry or wet. Under this plan after the repeal of the state-wide act 10 per cent of the voters of Fulton county could by petition call for an election to determine whether we would prohibit the sale of intoxicants under local option or stay as a licensed county.

"In the same bill the legislature should pass strict regulatory measures for the sale of intoxicants in licensed counties, forbidding the drinking of intoxicants in public places and keep complete control of the sale of intoxicants as they are doing in Virginia.

"We are wrong when we say that because Atlanta voted for repeal this expression represented the sentiment of the entire state. Past political history shows that a majority of the state thinks different from us on most political issues. In the matter of the repeal of the prohibition law we, by our votes, have no more right to impose liquor upon a county that does not want it than a dry county has to impose prohibition upon Fulton county if it does not want it. When the repeal comes let it be fair to each county. Under the method outlined above repeal would represent the voice of each county that has ever voted on prohibition."

THE LEADER MUST BE BEST

When one product outsells all others in its field by a tremendous margin, year after year, there is only one conclusion to draw. That product must be best.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes have become the world's largest-selling ready-to-eat cereal for that one reason. Finer in flavor. Crispier and more appetizing. Uniformly good wherever you buy them.

You can get some idea of the popularity of Kellogg's Corn Flakes from such figures as these: Over 12,000,000 people eat them every day. They create a market for $50,000,000 worth of farm products yearly—including half a billion quarts of milk and cream, besides vast acreages of corn.

Like other Kellogg Cereals you may have enjoyed, Kellogg's Corn Flakes are a wholesome food, nourishing and easy to digest. A value too. Economical. Ready to serve.

Remember, when you buy Corn Flakes, to ask for Kellogg's, the original Corn Flakes, never equalled in quality.

Independent Theater Owners Of South in Convention Here

Leading independent theater operators from over the entire south met in Atlanta Monday for a two-day convention of the GFTA being held at the Robert Fulton hotel.

The convention officially opened at 10 o'clock Monday morning when Carlton Mobley, executive secretary to Governor Talmadge welcomed the visitors to Atlanta. This was followed by addresses by Sidney Samuelson, of Newton, N. J., national president of the Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors, and Harry A. Cole, of Dallas, Texas.

During the afternoon all delegates visited the Southeastern Fair, and Monday night were entertained at a dinner dance held at Wileys Inn.

This morning's session will open at 10 a. m., and after attending to routine business Charles Mion, of Atlanta and R. W. Crenshaw, also of Atlanta, will deliver addresses.

Officers of the theater group include Ike Katz, of Montgomery, president; W. C. Court, of Atlanta, treasurer; and Jules Benedict, of Atlanta, secretary. Entertainment is in charge of Louis S. Bach, of Atlanta. Collins Bird, of Atlanta, W. C. Court and Mrs. Fay Ellis, of Miami.

it to shore and friends gasped—Freda McKeechie.

"Then her parents were told over the telephone: 'The body of your daughter has been taken from Harvey's lake.'"

"Bobby was arrested. He was told the clothes were found. He said he was glad to tell the truth—that she fell, bumped her head. He was afraid he'd be blamed.

"Later he said 'She did fall. I think she injured herself. Apparently there was no life. I was afraid I'd be blamed. I got the blackjack and struck her on the head. Then I towed her into deeper water.' And he pointed out where the blackjack could be found. The blackjack was fished out."

Ready to Tell Truth.
Later Flannery said, Edwards asked: "Is it too late to tell the truth?" and went on: "I prayed last night and read my testament. I have talked with my parents. She (Freda) was in no pain. She did not fall. She was swimming."

Flannery concluded: "We'll show you, gentlemen, the intimacies between these two; we'll show you what led to this crime."

"We ask gentlemen, the extreme penalty—the electric chair."

Edwards shifted in his chair for the first time as Flannery concluded. Court recessed until 10 tomorrow and Edwards' father rose from his

Swimming Trip.
"He met Freda Monday night. It was raining quite hard and they were going, if you please, for a swim. Freda visited a little piece in a cottage, then she got back into Edward's car. They hurried around the lake a mile or two to Sandy Beach and undressed in the car. It was dark and no one goes there to swim."

"Freda skipped light-heartedly toward the water. Edwards closed the car door and followed her. He took the blackjack with him. He waited for his opportunity—then brought it down on the girl's head."

"Robert started back home, then discovered Freda's clothes were in the car. He drove back to the lake. The rain eased off as he hid them beneath a tree. He leaped into his car and sped back to Edwardsville, where he walked into a store and said: 'Give me two bars of candy.'"

"One of these he gave to his mother, the other he ate himself."

Parents' Anxiety.
"When Freda did not come home, her parents called Bobby. 'I left her off on Main street,' he told them."

"Still she did not return and the bewildered parents again turned to Edwards. Again he said he left her off at Main street."

"Meantime, Harvey's lake gave up the body. A little girl discovered it there—in the water. They brought chair and put his arm about the prisoner's shoulder.

They whispered a few minutes. In a rear seat, Mrs. George McKeechie, Freda's mother, listened with downcast eyes, to Flannery's recital.

Everyone in Edwardsville, mining settlement, perched on a mountainside overlooking the smoking collieries, knew of the romance of Freda and Bobb, but few knew of the "other girl" in East Aurora, N. Y.

Pennsylvania's parallel to a popular novel has caused tense feeling, not only in Edwardsville, across the river, but in Wilkes-Barre as well.

County Detective Dick Powell, a neighbor of the McKeechie and the Edwards, will be one of the commonwealth's chief witnesses.

to by the woman, Pearson then swore to a similar warrant against Swift, and today Jack Tiller, bodyguard for Mrs. Price, made an affidavit against Kone.

Sheriff Giles said Pearson had directed Kone to his home in Birmingham to obtain letters he alleged were written him by Swift and other concerning contacting Mrs. Price.

Pearson, according to Sheriff Giles, said he had met Swift in Chattanooga, Tenn., in June to discuss the matter and agreed to attempt to see Mrs. Price. The man said his only interest in the case was to help Mrs. Price obtain some money.

Bodyguard Since 1933.
Mrs. Price who has had a bodyguard since February, 1933, when Ruby Bates, second alleged victim of attacks aboard a freight train March 25, 1931, disappeared, tipped police of the efforts to get her to change her testimony.

The woman told officers five weeks ago, Pearson approached her with an offer of $500 to sign an affidavit repudiating her testimony in seven trials in the case.

Mrs. Price advised police Thursday that the offer had been renewed with $1,000 offered if she would change her testimony. In company with Pearson, Mrs. Price left the city in an automobile en route to Nashville to obtain the money and sign the affidavit.

A short distance out of the city, Pearson was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Price.

Chief of Police H. C. Blakemore then advised Nashville officers to watch for Swift and asked for his arrest on charges of bribery on a warrant sworn out by Pearson.

Swift and Kone were taken into custody at a hotel in Nashville shortly after they arrived yesterday in an airplane chartered in Cincinnati.

Gray Hair
Best Remedy is Made At Home

You can now make at home a better gray hair remedy than you can buy following this simple recipe: To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it yourself at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. Barbo imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair, makes it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

The Spirit of ONE HUNDRED MESSAGES
"Where there is lack of knowledge there is bound to be suspicion. Acquaintance is the beginning of friendship."
THESE lines, which I read recently, serve very fittingly as the theme of this, the 100th consecutive message, which I have been privileged to address to the men and women of Georgia.
It was in exactly this spirit of open-handed frankness nearly three years ago that THE CITIZENS & SOUTHERN NATIONAL BANK invited me in to throw into the light of public knowledge, the principles and practices of a great bank. Every member of the bank personnel regards the operation of the bank as a sacred trust for more than 120,000 men and women whose money is contained therein.
It is your bank . . . knowledge of its functions and operations is your right and privilege. If you have a question about some phase of bank operation, there need be no suspicion since the information is yours for the asking.
It is our earnest hope that these messages, giving you a thorough acquaintance with the principles and practices of THE CITIZENS & SOUTHERN, will in turn lead to a close friendship between the bank and the people of Georgia.

In Georgia's FIELDS and STREAMS

Ever since the classic inscription, "D. Boone killed a bear—" was carved into a tree trunk, there has been a halo of romance and apprehension around the black bears of eastern North America. The grizzlies and brown bears of the west are rightfully dreaded animals, if one may believe those tales that are told around the campfires. The blacks, however, are more gentle creatures and not likely to produce any untoward events on being met in the forest.

Some time ago I noticed an item in a Georgia paper telling of the killing of a bear in a river swamp near Jessup. It said that this was the first bear that had been seen there in many years, and that the only way it could be accounted for was that it had escaped from some circus. In spite of this statement, I would say that the black bear is a normal animal to be encountered in such a region and that the surprise of the people was due to the fact that they did not realize that bears were to be expected. Here in a perfect habitat the inhabitants were surprised to see a bear, then immediately explained to the world the reason they were surprised by killing the animal. Their predecessors in that community evidently did the same thing; else there would have been no occasion for excitement.

This is not to be considered typical of that one section of the state, but of the state as a whole. The reflex of the trigger finger is so ingrained into the white race that anything moving is considered as a target for the marksman. Indians had lived in America

Davis Warns Farmers To Sign Corn-Hog Pact

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Corn and hog producers were warned today by Administrator Chester Davis, of the AAA, that overproduction and lower prices almost surely may be expected if they fail to continue the corn-hog control program in 1935.

Without the control program, he said in a radio address, it will be impossible for the government to continue lending on corn stored on the farms.

"The question is put squarely up to the corn and hog farmers," Davis said. "... The price of hogs on the market place is twice as high as it was a year ago before the effect of the adjustment program was felt. On top of that the packers are paying $2.25 a hundred processing tax. This higher price of hogs didn't just happen by itself."

For untold centuries before the coming of the white man and they had game of all sorts in plenty. Black bear, among other things, were abundant over the entire eastern United States. Yet, in a short century and a half white people have placed many species of wild life in such a precarious condition that the entire future of a number of forms is endangered. You need not tell me that the diminution of black bears in Georgia or the present duck crisis, which is nation-wide, were caused by any other agency than the hand of man. Timber cutting, draining of marsh land, countless so-called reclamation projects and agriculture of the poorest sort, have been responsible for the decline of our wild life resources. This decline, I believe, will stand as the memorial to the vaunted civilization with which we have cursed this land.

If you don't agree, say so. If, in the bottom of your heart, you agree, by all means say so. I have some private information to send to you.

Dionne Quintuplets Completely Recovered

CALLANDER, Ont., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The intestinal toxemia which threatened the life of one of the 126-day-old Dionne quintuplets and rendered the four others seriously ill is now completely cleared up, their physician, Dr. A. R. Dufour, announced today.

"Their condition has been improving steadily of late, but I wanted to make sure that every sign of the ailment had been erased before I became too optimistic," Dr. Dufour said. Today the quintuplets all took advantage of the bright northern Ontario sun and were left in the sunlight a little longer than usual. All five babies made gains in weight today.

Many New Deal Cases Before Highest Court

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Solemnly and quietly, the supreme court today began a term at which it will shape America's future by passing on the constitutionality of major phases of the New Deal.

Even at its first session—by custom largely a formality—the high court dismissed by government request, one of the cases which involved controversial legislation sponsored by the Roosevelt administration. It involved oil control. Others touching this subject and the president's monetary activities remain, while still others involving NRA and AAA probably will be added to the docket.

The suit dismissed today was one from Gregg county, Texas, in which the government sought to punish G. W. Smith and other producers who were charged with producing oil in excess of the quotas allotted them by the state of Texas.

The oil case disposed of, the court dismissed a school fund suit from Arkansas and recessed until next Monday. Then followed the customary call on the president at the White House.

Japs See U.S. Aviation As Menace to Orient

TOKYO, Oct. 2.—(Tuesday)—(AP)—The Japanese army startled the nation today by publishing an official pamphlet in which the strength of the United States in aviation was described as a possible menace to Japan.

The necessity for continued preparations for possible war with Russia was emphasized.

The army pamphlet denounced the accumulation of wealth by relatively few persons and "enjoyment of income without labor by a certain section of the nation."

First Shipment Is Received Of New Philco Radio Model

New Philco "high fidelity" model 200-X, just received at Brown Distributing Company for Georgia dealers, is pictured above as Miss Evelyn Shaw tunes in foreign stations on its all-wave receiver.

The first shipment of the new Philco high-fidelity model 200-X radios, hailed as the greatest forward step in radio, has just been received by the Brown Distributing Company, local Philco distributor. The new sets incorporate features of design that allow, for the first time, the undistorted reproduction of musical frequencies from 50 to 7,500 cycles, a range nearly double that of the ordinary radio set.

J. C. Brown, president of the distributing firm, explained that this tremendous musical range not only allows the perfect reproduction of the ordinary musical range but also reproduces overtones which give to musical sounds what is known as timbre or quality and which have never before been heard over the air. He says:

"The reproduction of overtones has long been the goal of radio engineers because overtones are what give to music its full beauty and naturalness. How well Philco engineers have accomplished this task is revealed in the perfection of tone which one hears in these high-fidelity 200-X radios. "The listener hears deep basses and high trebles with a naturalness and realism that are startling. And no matter where he sits, the 200-X gives him the same intensity and beauty of tone, for incorporated in the 200-X cabinet is a sound beam diffusing apparatus which, together with Philco's patented inclined sounding board, entirely does away with directional sound effects, distributing the program equally to all parts of the room. "The Philco 200-X is making a sensation wherever it has been heard. Dealers are now ready to demonstrate this remarkable new radio to those interested in hearing radio more natural and lifelike than they ever heard before."

Byrd's Autogyro Falls, Pilot's Arm Is Broken

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Oct. 1.—(AP)—(Via Mackay Radio)—The autogyro of the Byrd antarctic expedition crashed here late yesterday shortly after taking off on an aerological flight, but without serious injury to the pilot, William McCormick. The machine was wrecked. McCormick, a resident of Lansdowne, Pa., escaped with a broken left arm, minor bruises and a severe shaking up. After treatment he was resting comfortably. The machine fell from an altitude of 200 feet.

COL. BISHOP BECOMES BRIGADIER-GENERAL

Colonel Perry Bishop, U. S. A., of the coast artillery school at Fort Monroe, Va., will be commissioned a brigadier general today preparatory to his arrival here on October 25 to succeed General James H. Reeves, as commander of the fourth coast artillery district with headquarters at Fort McPherson. General Reeves has just retired.

Colonel Bishop will be the first coast artillery man to be placed in command of the district, preceding officers having all been from other branches of the service. Born in Tennessee, Colonel Bishop has served with the regular army since 1898, the year he graduated from the University of Tennessee with a B. S. degree.

He has seen much foreign service and for four years served as a member of the general staff of the war department. He served as a brigadier general during the World War, and received the distinguished service medal. After the war he was given his present rank of colonel. He is expected to arrive in Atlanta with Mrs. Bishop at an early date.

NOVEMBER INSTITUTE FOR CHURCH TEACHERS

An inter-parochial church school teacher training institute will be conducted at All Saints' Parish house during the month of November, according to announcement by the Diocesan department of Religious Education.

The classes will be for all Episcopal church school teachers and others interested in religious education, according to the Rev. G. W. Gasque, director, and Miss Beverly Wheatcroft, chairman of teacher training. Courses giving credit toward diplomas in religious education in the National Accredited Leaders Association will be offered. Classes will meet on Wednesday evenings, November 7, 14, 21 and 28 at 7:30 o'clock and during the month the complete course of ten lecture periods and a written test will be given, enabling each registered student to complete one full course and earn a certificate of credit. Those desiring to attend one or more lectures, though not working for credits, may do so.

MAN SHOT IN HEAD IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Shot through the right temple, a man who registered at a downtown hotel as R. H. Williams, of Canton, Ga., was in a critical condition Monday night at the Georgia Baptist hospital. He told officers he fired the bullet himself but said he did not know why he did it.

Williams, who is about 35 years of age, registered at the hotel at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon and at 7 o'clock he was discovered in his bathroom by Mrs. Fay DeRoun, a resident of the hotel. She said he was standing erect with a bloody towel wrapped around his head.

Although the bullet entered his right temple and emerged over his right eye, Williams did not lose consciousness before being taken to the operating room at the hospital, where doctors administered emergency treatment. The physicians said he had only a slight chance to survive the wound.

FOUR AUTO DEATHS SEPTEMBER TOTAL

Traffic Fatalities in 1934 Now 40, Compared to 44 in 1933, Club Reports.

Four deaths from automobile accidents within the city limits of Atlanta during September brought the total fatalities from automobile accidents in the city to 40 for the first nine months of the year, according to records of the Atlanta Motor Club. The four deaths during the month were two under the six fatalities from automobile accidents in the city during August and one under the five recorded for September, 1933.

There have been four less deaths from automobile accidents in Atlanta during the first nine months of this year than there were for the same period of 1933, the records revealed.

Those killed in automobile accidents in Atlanta during September were Mrs. Molly Wilson, 35, of 34 Fair street, S. W., injured near her home September 27; Henry Page, negro delivery boy, of 358 Georgia avenue, S. W., fatally injured in a motorcycle-car accident, September 16; Fred Freeman, 247 Euclid street, S. E., a picket at the Fulton Bag & Cotton Mill, struck and almost instantly killed by an automobile, September 12; Arthur Williams, of a Kennedy street address, struck down and instantly killed by a hit-and-run automobile at Irwin and Houston streets, September 5.

Month-by-month tabulation of fatal accidents during the first nine months of 1933 and the present year follow:

Month	1933	1934
January	9	3
February	5	6
March	5	2
April	4	4
May	4	2

LOCAL HOSIERY MILL REOPENED ON MONDAY

Protection, If Needed, Assured, Rossville Mill to Operate Today.

One more Georgia mill reopened Monday and another is to be reopened today, it was announced by mill executives.

The mill reopened Monday is the last in the Atlanta area to resume operations ceased because of the recent strike. It is the Atlanta Hosiery Mill, 231 Oakland avenue, which employs between 90 and 100 workers. The mill to be reopened today is the Peerless Woolen Mill at Rossville. A delegation of about 100 workers called on Adjutant General Lindley W. Camp Monday and asked for protection from pickets at the opening. The workers said that only 20 of the mill's 900 employees did not want to go to work but that the mill officials feared disturbances. General Camp relayed the information to Governor Talmadge who conferred with the officials over the telephone and told them that if they needed protection it would be given them. The company then announced that it would reopen for limited operations today.

Elmer Blalock, 25, who has been held at the Fort McPherson internment camp for more than a week, was removed to the camp Monday from Grady hospital where he was treated for effects of hunger strike. Blalock's home is at Shannon.

ATLANTAN APPOINTED TO STATE BOARD POST

Governor Talmadge Monday announced the appointment of W. R. Osborne, of Atlanta, to the state board of accountancy examiners. Mr. Osborne, who was named for a three-year term, succeeds M. H. Barnes, of Savannah, whose term expired Sunday.

The governor also announced the appointment of Miss M. M. McNally, of Savannah, to the board of nurses' examiners to succeed Miss Margaret Dorn, of Augusta, for a three-year term and the reappointment of Miss Mattie Lou Banks, of Macon, to succeed herself for a similar period. These appointments are as of October 1.

If you tire easily—

why not reason out the cause of this unnatural condition? Your first thought may be, "I must eat more." That's not all. You should enjoy what you eat. Frequently, the blood cells are low... and this, perhaps, is what makes you feel weak. If this is your trouble the stomach may not be calling for sufficient food. Test to eat may be lacking. But what a difference S.S.S. makes when taken just before meals. Just try it and notice how your appetite and digestion improve. S.S.S. stimulates the flow of gastric juices and also supplies the precious mineral elements so necessary in blood-cell and hemo-globin up-building. Do try it. It may be the rainbow you need to brush away present discouragement over your health condition.

Do not be misled by the efforts of a few unethical dealers who may suggest substitutes. You have a right to insist that S.S.S. be supplied you on request. Its long years of preference is your guarantee of satisfaction.

TROLLEY, TRUCKS, AUTO DAMAGED IN ACCIDENT

One man was knocked down and injured and three trucks and an automobile badly damaged Monday afternoon when an ice and coal truck crashed into a street car, two trucks and an automobile on Ponce de Leon avenue, near Ponce de Leon place.

LeRoy Brown, of 200 Gilmore street, driver of the offending truck, was arrested and charged with reckless driving when it was reported by witnesses that he crashed into the street car while attempting to pass it at a fast rate of speed. After hitting the street car and the two trucks and automobile, Brown's truck, knocked down and injured a man who gave his name as R. C. Sullivan, of 318 Grant Park place, Sullivan, though cut and bruised, refused to go to the hospital.

Charges of drunk and operating an automobile were made against Ed Stinson, negro, of Scottsdale, after the automobile he was driving crashed at Dekalb avenue and Nelms street Monday afternoon with an automobile driven by Joe Watkins, negro, of 20 Daniel street. Stinson and James Brown, negro, also of Scottsdale and a passenger in Stinson's car, were both cut and bruised.

Mrs. Hugh Lynch, of 444 Highland avenue, N. E., was charged with drunk and operating an automobile and her husband was arrested on a charge of drunk after the Lynch automobile had crashed into a parked automobile early Monday morning at Vedado way and Eighth street. Mr. Lynch's nose was broken.

Eugene Stegall, 14, messenger boy of 18 Lovelace avenue, N. W., was treated at Grady hospital Monday afternoon for a bruised and swollen foot, injuries he received when knocked from his bicycle on Whitehall street near Forsyth street by an automobile driven by Robert Cook, negro, of 345 Humphries street. No case was made against Cook as the Stegall boy said he was at fault.

OFFICIAL STAFF NAMED FOR REUNION OF U. C. V.

General J. M. Nash, of Atlanta, commander of the North Georgia Brigade of the United Confederate Veterans Monday announced appointment of the following veterans and ladies to serve on his official staff for the 11th reunion of Georgia division, U. C. V., which will be held Wednesday and Thursday at the Confederate Soldiers' Home in Atlanta:

Colonel E. R. Hamilton, adjutant-general and chief-of-staff; Mrs. Ernest B. Williams, assistant adjutant and assistant major of honor; Major George H. Phillips, inspector general; Major W. H. Chilper, commissary general; Major C. L. Moore, chaplain; Mrs. J. B. Phillips, matron of honor; Mrs. A. L. Bailey, chaperon; Mrs. Edward H. The official ladies on the staff will be introduced to the convention by General Nash Wednesday afternoon and the entire staff will attend the ball Wednesday evening at the home which will be given by the Sons of Confederate Veterans.

Veterans are expected to begin arriving in Atlanta today and will be met at the railroad station by Boy Scouts, registered, give badges and taken to the veterans' home. Buses to carry them to the home, will meet all trains. At the home they will be entertained this afternoon and tonight prior to the formal opening of the reunion at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning when all will be assembled in the chapel of the home.

At that time Governor Eugene Talmadge and Mayor James L. Key will deliver addresses of welcome and the president of the Georgia division of the Daughters of the Confederacy will extend a welcome on the part of the organization.

RAILS SEEKING LIVING, C. E. WEAVER SAYS HERE

C. E. Weaver, southeastern representative of the federal co-ordinator of transportation, in a speech here Monday said American railroads were like everyone else—they are trying to make a living. Speaking before the Georgia section of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Weaver said the railroads needed $200,000,000 annually for interest and dividends and that they made only $300,000,000. Weaver compared the 913 concerns which run and operate American railroads to the two which operate those in Canada, adding that there had been talk of cutting the Canadian operating force in one.

That tired feeling

Any work is over-work for defective eyes, and drains the system of needed nervous energy. Pulled, haggard features reflect the pulled, haggard condition of those delicate eye muscles, straining to do a job too big for them.

Strained effort to read is tell-tale proof that you have neglected eyes, or that age has weakened them.

Look out for your eyes and they will look out for you. Good eyesight means better health, better work.

That tired feeling you often complain of is probably a case of "nerves"—due primarily to eyestrain. Have them examined and know where you stand.

MYSTERY IS SEEN IN AUGUSTA DEATH

Finding of Insurance Note on Auto Crash Victim Brings Probe Request.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 1.—(AP)—A coroner's jury today recommended further investigation by proper authorities into the death of Henderson Gresham, 32, movie operator, who was killed Sunday in an automobile accident on the Savannah road near Augusta.

The verdict was written following introduction at a coroner's inquest of a note, identified as being in the handwriting of Gresham. The note, found in a pocket of Gresham's coat and penciled on the back of a form circular letter, read:

"If I should die tonight, pay my insurance to my mother." (Signed) "Gresham."

The verdict was that "Henderson Gresham came to his death in an automobile accident. Cause of accident unknown. We the jury recommend further investigation by the proper officers."

Witnesses introduced testimony to the effect that Gresham and Carl Hagen, the latter said to have been driving, went to a tea room early Sunday morning and asked for food. Told that it was too late to be served, the two young men drove away toward Augusta.

William Henry Wilson, newspaper route man, testified that he found Gresham lying in the roadway and that he was alive at 5 a. m. Sunday but unconscious and groaning. Wilson said that he summoned police.

Hospital attaches reported the condition of Hagen, who was injured, as being serious but not critical.

When the accident was reported Sunday night officers said that Hagen, mistaking the reflection of his own headlights in a window, for an on-coming automobile, swerved into a ditch.

MISSISSIPPI SEEKS 3 ESCAPED CONVICTS

CLARKDALE, Miss., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Peace officers of North Delta counties today were on the lookout for Luther Foreman, 21, a white convict, and Frank McBride and Walter Hill, negro convicts, who escaped from the state penitentiary at Parchman and were reported to be headed in the direction of Clarkdale.

Foreman was convicted in Lincoln county of manslaughter. Lewis was sent up from Hinds county for burglary, and Hill from Harrison county for burglary.

NEW LEADER NAMED BY BIBB RELIEF BODY

MACON, Ga., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Angela Dixon, of Liberty, Mo., has been selected Bibb county relief administrator, succeeding Mrs. Frances J. Hattaway, who resigned to become assistant supervisor of Georgia relief field work.

Mrs. Hattaway had directed local relief since July, 1933, as county relief administrator and as executive secretary of the Macon Society for Organized Service.

To Address Women at Macon

Mrs. James H. Wolfe, of Washington, D. C., acting head of the women's division of the national democratic committee, shown above, is expected to be one of the principal speakers at the first annual convention of the Georgia Affiliated Democratic Women's Clubs in Macon Wednesday, October 3. Two subjects of interest to women generally will be discussed, it is announced—one calling for the ratification of the child labor amendment, and the other jury service for women. Hundreds of Georgia women are expected to attend the convention, which meets one day prior to the state democratic convention, which will ratify the results of the primary held in the state September 12. Mrs. J. A. Rollison, of Waycross, is president of the organization.

FORT SCREVEN POST GETS NEW COMMANDER

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Lieutenant Colonel J. C. Drain today assumed the command of Fort Screven, United States army post, here, succeeding Lieutenant Colonel C. R. Abraham, who was transferred to Panama several months ago.

Major Frederick Matthews, commander of the eight infantry battalion at the post, had been in command since Colonel Abraham left for Panama.

METHODISTS AT ROME OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

ROME, Ga., Oct. 1.—The 100th anniversary of the founding of Methodism in Rome was celebrated here Sunday with a pageant depicting the arrival of the first circuit rider.

Black caped and riding horseback like his predecessor a century ago, Grover Irwin, of the Shannon circuit, entered the city over the same route which the first circuit rider, Dr. J. B. McFerrin, followed on his first visit here from Knoxville.

Children in costume of the early days, Boy Scouts, representing Indians, and the choir of the Metropolitan A. M. E. church, represented the three races who made up the audience to whom the first circuit rider spoke.

A large gathering assembled on the lawn in the rear of the Carnegie library, near the spot where the first circuit rider preached. The principal address was made by Rev. J. W. McKibben, presiding elder of the Rome district.

Greetings were extended by A. P. McKay, chairman of the Rome city commission. Rev. Wilkie Collins, pastor of First Methodist church, gave the invocation and music was furnished by the choir of the Metropolitan A. M. E. church.

AUGUSTA STARTS BIG HOUSING PLAN

$1,000,000 To Be Spent; Columbus Names Three Committees.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 1.—(AP)—A better housing campaign designed to place $1,000,000 in improvements under provisions of the federal housing act was launched officially here today with the appointment of a general chairman and an executive committee.

Herbert C. Lorick, prominent Augusta insurance man and for many years closely identified with progressive civic movements, was named chairman of the executive committee and L. M. Whaley its secretary.

Lorick accepted his appointment from M. H. H. Duvall, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and plans for the campaign will be mapped at a meeting of Lorick's committee tomorrow.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED FOR COLUMBUS WORK

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 1.—For the handling of various phases of the Columbus housing improvement campaign, three committees have been appointed here. They are: Publicity, J. W. Woodruff, chairman; R. M. Page, Albert Kunze, David Parmer, Miss Edwina Wood, Walter R. Pike and Wilbur Gleason; Finance, W. Roy Luttrell, chairman; Henry Frost, J. W. Thomas, H. P. Park and Maurice Rothchild; industry, H. Dixon Smith, chairman; Ed Cooper, S. D. White, Rex Hubbard, Dan J. Graves, Oren Smith and J. D. Wadsworth.

RED CROSS MEETING HELD AT GAINESVILLE

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Red Cross representatives from 25 north Georgia counties met here today in regional conference and heard two national representatives of the organization discuss the work of the year and review past accomplishments.

Stone J. Crane, field representative of Atlanta, discussed the work during the past year. William Carl Hunt, of Washington, assistant manager of the eastern area, spoke on enrollment and chapter finances. Henry M. Baker, assistant national director of disaster relief, of Washington, was a luncheon speaker.

"Based on the foregoing," Senator George said, "and on the value of oil today, Spanish peanuts should be worth $80 a ton. This does not take into consideration competitive shellers."

Weather for Today To Be Fair, Warmer

Fair and warmer weather today, with a temperature range between 58 and 80 degrees, was forecast Monday by the weather bureau. Continuation of warm weather is indicated.

Monday's temperature extremes were 56 and 76 degrees, and there was no rain.

TELEPHONE PROPERTIES ARE RETURNED BY CUBA

HAVANA, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The government today returned properties of the Cuban Telephone Company to the owners, ordering the company to reemploy 207 of 256 former employees discharged for strike activities.

The 49 strikers left without jobs were leaders in a sabotage campaign directed against the company, officials charged.

Closer Union of Units To Be Theme Of Lutheran Session at Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Closer cooperation between the 17 units of the Lutheran church will be the theme of the ninth biennial convention of the United Lutheran church which opens here October 17.

Approximately 600 delegates, representing 1,000,000 members of the church in the United States and Canada are expected to attend the sessions.

Rev. Frederick H. Knobel, president of the church, in a report released in New York, said the chief concern of the convention will be to bring about a closer union between the branches of the church. Eight of the 34 synods of the church already have proposed memorials on the question and many pastors and laymen's organizations have taken similar action.

The memorials contain several proposals. One would call for closer fellowship through an exchange of pastors and fraternal visits. Co-operation also is regarded as essential in home missions, education and Christian social welfare.

The American Lutheran church, with 200,000 members, the strongest in the world, will meet at Waverly, Iowa, a week before the Savannah convention and some action looking toward closer co-operation was expected to be taken there.

The committee on moral and social welfare will submit a report recommending action in attempts to better motion pictures and instruct church members to align themselves with "movements toward a better moral control of this modern amusement industry."

The committee will ask for more time to study its subject before making more definite recommendations.

Another proposal to come before the convention will seek fuller authority for executive boards of the church "in restraining constituent synods from particular fields at the expense of the general work of the church."

This would especially affect home and foreign mission programs and the establishment and maintenance of educational institutions.

Mr. Knobel's report said there was a growing tendency among auxiliary societies toward becoming ends in themselves and that the executive board would recommend that they become recognized definite agencies of the church, instead of remaining in the status of mere auxiliaries.

The question of whether women shall be eligible to become lay delegates to the various church conventions also will be up for action.

SEN. GEORGE EXPLAINS AAA PEANUT PROGRAM

VIENNA, Ga., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Senator Walter F. George announced from his home here today prices the agricultural adjustment administration will pay farmers for peanuts for crushing at the mills under the rental and benefit plan.

The AAA last week announced a processing tax of one cent would be collected on peanuts, from which funds the benefit payments to farmers will be made. The one cent tax, Secretary Wallace stated, would be paid only about one-third the amount allowed under the AAA, and the smaller amount would be collected in order to keep the price of peanuts up.

Senator George said $12 a ton would be paid for Spanish peanuts, $8 per ton for runner peanuts, $16 for Virginia jumbo type, and $8 per ton for full 1934 crop to farmers who will agree to reduce their 1935 acreage to the average of 1933 and 1934.

Also, the senator said, $15 per ton will be paid on not more than 20 per cent of the present crop if the farmer makes an agreement with the oil mill to use it for crushing purposes.

All benefits to farmers will be paid after acreage reduction agreements are signed in 1935, the senator explained.

"Based on the foregoing," Senator George said, "and on the value of oil today, Spanish peanuts should be worth $80 a ton. This does not take into consideration competitive shellers."

500 KIWANISANS PLAN TO GO TO STATE MEET

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 1.—More than 500 delegates are expected to attend the state Kiwanis convention to be held in Columbus, October 19-20, officials stated today. Quite a number of clubs in the state have registered their members 100 per cent for attendance.

Among those to attend will be the members of many of the district and special programs is being prepared for the women under the leadership of Mrs. Frank Schler. A demonstration of the nation-wide textile strike will be held on Friday, October 19.

COUPLE IN HOSPITAL AFTER BURGLAR ATTACK

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bierma, of Elizabeth, N. J., were in the Central of Georgia hospital here tonight suffering from injuries alleged to have been inflicted by a burglar who entered their room in a tourist cabin early today.

Both were struck about the face with a blunt instrument.

HALF-PAINTED HOUSE TO BE SHOWN HERE

Money has been appropriated by a Michigan paint manufacturer to establish a half-painted house in Atlanta. An old mansion at 324 West Peachtree street has been selected for this rare paint demonstration and a large crew of painters will be busy Tuesday on the project.

This half-painted house idea is being sponsored by the Grand Rapids Paint & Enamel Co., makers of Dutch Kraft paints, and is a part of the better housing program. Harry J. Brown, firm official, has just arrived from Washington, D. C., to supervise the development of Atlanta's half-painted house. He will be assisted by Louis Z. Zachos, southern sales manager, and E. M. Pickle, distributor, both of Atlanta.

Plans for the opening of the house to the public will be announced soon.

10 SCHOOL MEETINGS TO BE HELD IN STATE

MACON, Ga., Oct. 1.—(AP)—District conventions of 10 congressional district educational associations of the state will be held during October and November with prominent attorneys, editors, ministers, educators and state officials addressing meetings of laymen and teachers.

The schedule for the meetings is: Sixth district, Milledgeville, October 15; tenth district, Washington, October 16; fourth district, Barnesville, October 23; third district, Americus, October 25; first district, Macon, October 27; eighth district, Waycross, October 30; second district, Moultrie, November 1; and fifth district, Atlanta, November 2 and 3.

On the night before each of the meetings the Georgia Laymen's Educational Association will hold sessions on the theme "Better Support for Georgia Schools and How to Obtain It." M. L. Fleetwood, of Cartersville, is president of the Laymen's Association, and T. Hicks Fort, of Columbus, chairman of the executive committee.

CONSTABLE IS KILLED BY ACCIDENTAL SHOT

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Weaver Cowan, 41, constable at Illinois township and formerly well known in the south as a basketball player, accidentally shot himself fatally today. His shotgun, loaded with buckshot, discharged as he was getting into his car, striking him in the abdomen and he died en route to a hospital.

New Rome Judge

Claude Porter, shown above, Rome attorney, who will take office January 1, 1935, as judge of the Rome circuit, was defeated by J. W. Maddox for the democratic nomination in the recent primary. The Rome circuit includes Floyd, Walker and Chattooga counties.

TWO GEORGIA MILLS REOPEN AFTER STRIKE

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Plans of the Richmond Hosiery mills at Rossville, Ga., and the Crystal Springs Bleachery Company at Chickamauga, Ga., resumed operations today after being closed since the beginning of the nation-wide textile strike.

The Standard-Cocoa-Thatcher Company was placing its machinery in readiness to start operations tomorrow morning.

Employees of the three plants of the Standard-Cocoa-Thatcher Company here voted Sunday afternoon to accept a proposition for them to return to work. The industry is Chattanooga's largest textile mill, employing approximately 1,400.

The Richmond Hosiery mill, in its main plant, spinning mill and full-fashioned hosiery unit, employs normally about 1,200. Garnett Andrews, president, said the company was able to put practically its full force to work.

MILLS TO FACE CHARGES, STATES LABOR LEADER

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Those textile workers who joined the cotton textile strike of a month ago and who reapplied for their jobs again today, were told by Paul W. Fuller, union organizer, at a mass meeting here that charges of discrimination would be placed against the mills within the next few days.

According to reports of union officials, only a scattered few of the textile strikers were given their jobs back today when they reappeared at the mills in accordance with directions given them on the basis of the request of the new labor board.

MYSTERIOUS 'MR. B' SOUGHT IN SLAYING

NORTHFIELD, Mass., Oct. 1.—(AP)—A mysterious "Mr. B" of Springfield, Mass., today was sought in connection with the slaying of Dr. Elliott Spear, headmaster of Mount Hermon school, in Northfield, three weeks ago. Lieutenant Albert Dasey, state detective, said "Mr. B" would be taken into custody "on sight."

Authorities investigating the queer case refused to divulge the identity of "Mr. B" other than to say "B" was the first letter of the man's last name.

DANIEL EXPECTED TO DROP CONTEST

Fight on McDonald Nomination Not Likely to Reach Convention.

Abandonment of J. B. (Toke) Daniel's contest of the nomination of Walter R. McDonald to his old position on the public service commission before it reaches the floor of the democratic state convention in Macon Thursday was freely predicted here Monday as the seventh of 17 counties in which Commissioner Daniel has filed a contest decided in McDonald's favor.

Mr. Daniel himself gave no indication of abandoning the contest but in political circles the dropping of the fight was expected, inasmuch as the incumbent has received little or no encouragement from the county committees which have heard the evidence presented in his behalf.

Whether or not the fight will reach the contest committee of the democratic executive committee could not be learned but it was generally expected that if it should go that far it would not go farther.

Governor Talmadge, who appointed Daniel to McDonald's post last year when he suspended the Augusta man, has taken no part in his appointee's battle and has done nothing to lead observers to believe that he will enter the fight.

Although he obtained approximately 6,000 more popular votes than McDonald, Daniel was apparently defeated by 20 unit votes in the September 12 primary. He filed the contests in the 17 counties but thus far no county committee has reversed its previous figure and increased Daniel's total unit vote.

Meanwhile preparations for the convention are being completed by Chairman Hugh Howell, of the executive committee. The contest committee will meet at Macon Wednesday and decide any fights brought before it. The convention will be held Thursday.

Governor Talmadge, before leaving for Louisville Monday night, completed the draft of his speech accepting renomination. The governor made no announcement of the content of his address. It was generally expected, however, that he would make no mention of beer, repeal and other similarly controversial subjects, leaving these matters for the attention of the legislature.

Governor Talmadge will address the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Louisville today and return to his office here Wednesday morning. He will leave for Macon Wednesday afternoon.

At least one fight on the floor of the convention appeared certain Monday when the Appling county committee notified Chairman Howell that it had upheld the contest of H. L. Williams against G. A. Ray for that county's seat in the house of representatives. Friends of Ray said they would carry the fight to the last ditch. They charged that the county committee was prejudiced in favor of Williams.

McDonald Monday night issued a statement in which he charged Daniel "hopes to defeat my nomination in the convention."

Grand Jury Charged By Judge Underwood

In addition to touching on routine federal offenses, such as violations of the liquor and narcotic laws, Judge E. Marvin Underwood, of federal court, Monday charged the federal grand jury on possible prosecutions growing out of violations of NIRA.

He said that businessmen had agreed to be governed by provisions of their codes but that if they violated these provisions they should be indicted and prosecuted.

The court also called attention to the securities act, which protects investors against misrepresentations of stocks and bonds. The jurors were reminded of the new federal act against kidnapping, which the court held was an offense that, in its prevalence and boldness, was a disgrace to civilization.

He called attention to violation of the migratory bird act, and to the setting of fires by careless hunters and campers in forest lands. He urged action against the importation of firearms which might be used by gangsters.

The court suggested that the jurors make a study of courts and jails and their methods. He urged the enforcement of criminal laws and a greater public respect for them.

Blowout Is Fatal.

Life-Term Prisoner

Ends His Life in Leap

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Shouting "So long, boys; here I go!" to guards and other prisoners, Alexander Legat, 55, jumped to his death today from the roof of the infirmary at the Eastern penitentiary.

Legat was sentenced last Thursday at Doylestown to life imprisonment for the killing of Paul Kul-scar, 60, a neighbor, in a quarrel over a spring between their properties.

He was assigned to sweep the roof of the infirmary, a one-and-a-half-story building, but without beginning work walked to the edge and leaped.

COVINGTON BOY VICTOR IN SPELLING CONTEST

The feature event of school day was the Southeastern Fair's spelling contest, under the supervision of M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, and Walter Cowart, chief clerk of the state department of education.

JAMES LEWIS, of Covington.

Whether or not the fight will reach the contest committee of the democratic executive committee could not be learned but it was generally expected that if it should go that far it would not go farther.

The contest was won by James Lewis, 14-year-old ninth grade student from the Heard Mixon Consolidated schools at Covington, representing Newton county. James spelled every word given and won the first prize of $50 given for the fair by Mike Benton, president.

Second place was won by Eugene Park, 17-year-old eleventh grade student from the Oglethorpe Consolidated schools, representing Macon county. Eugene missed the word "hieroglyphic" which the winner spelled. This prize was $30 cash.

Third place went to Charles Franklin, 16-year-old eleventh grade student of the Eastman High school, representing Dodge county. He missed the word "complaisance." The prize for third place was $20.

The spellers went through the Smith, Hammond & Company speller for advanced grades; Standard High School Spelling Scale and the 1934 high school spelling contest list, before turning to the blue back speller. There were five left standing when they reached the blue back book. Ruth Sauls, of Manchester High school, representing Meriwether county, was fourth, missing the word "zeorithy" and Florence McCutchen, of Franklin, representing Heard county schools, was fifth, missing the word "abeyance."

Others in the contest and the order in which they finished are as follows:

James Hilley, Jackson, Butts county; Eleanor Harlee, Russell High school, Fulton county; Hilda Morgan, Fayette county; Temple Ogletree, Georgetown, Quitman county; Ethel Mangum, Zebulon, Pike county; Cohen Davis, Buchanan, Haralson county; Helen Whitley, Conover, Rockdale county; Annie Ruth Moseley, Douglasville, Douglas county; Claude Nelson, Decatur, DeKalb county; Nona Davison, Wrentham, Jefferson county; Mary Murhead, Columbus, Muscogee county; and Myrtle Smith, Lakemont, Rabun county.

EXTORTION ATTEMPT DRAWS 2-YEAR TERM

W. W. McAdams, 24, a former sewing-machine salesman, was given a two-to-four year sentence Monday in Fulton superior court by Judge G. H. Howard after he had pleaded guilty to sending a letter demanding $200 of Isaac Frankel, a delicatessen owner, with a threat that unless the money was paid Frankel and his family would be "wiped out like rats."

Adams' counsel made a plea for reduction of the charge to a misdemeanor, but Judge Howard refused the request, remarking that extortion is a serious offense and advising counsel that any plea of leniency should be made before the prison commission or the governor.

FULTON CHILD HEALTH COUNCIL TO ORGANIZE

Organization meeting of the Fulton County Child Health and Welfare Council will be held at the Chamber of Commerce at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon and will be attended by representatives of the various organizations in the county interested in child welfare work. The council is a branch organization of a similar state body formed last spring which has for its objective the attainment of closer co-operation between these groups.

The meeting will be presided over by Dr. M. Hines Roberts, chairman of the state council. Representatives will be present from the county board of health, the county and city school systems, home demonstration department, Atlanta Woman's Club, Atlanta Parent Teacher Association, the women's auxiliaries of the Georgia Medical Association and the nursing service of the FERA. Miss Ada M. Barker will represent the FERA.

VETERAN IS STABBED, ROBBED BY COMPANION

David Jeremiah, 45, shell-shocked World War veteran, was in a precarious condition at Grady hospital Monday night with a stab wound in his mouth and police were searching for an unidentified companion who was believed to have stabbed him and taken $65 which Jeremiah had received as government compensation.

Jeremiah and the companion had rented a room at 25 Fair street, S. W., earlier Monday and were in the room for some time. The companion left late Monday afternoon and the landlady, Mrs. Carl C. Holley, going past the doorway to the room saw Jeremiah stretched across the bed, bleeding profusely from the mouth. The money was gone when police, summoned by Mrs. Holley, arrived. Jeremiah's condition would not permit police to question him Monday night.

NEW ECONOMIC MOVES LAUNCHED BY BRITAIN

Provisions Affecting Daily Life of Millions Go Into Force.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—A series of new economic provisions affecting the daily life of millions of residents in the United Kingdom went into force today, chief among them drastic reductions in telephone charges.

Sir Kingsley Wood, postmaster-general, who has control of the telephone service, instituted a maximum charge of 25 cents for a three-minute telephone call between any two points in the United Kingdom during evening and night hours.

For labor, today marked the restoration of part of the wage cut suffered by 500,000 railwaymen during the economic crisis two years ago. Today's restoration amounted to 1-1-4

Auto of City Official Taken Off Parking Lot

A thief who had neither respect for or fear of city officials sometime Monday walked into the parking lot at the rear of the city hall and took the newly-painted gray Essex coach which belonged to J. A. James, assistant city controller.

Mr. James said that the coach, which was a 1931 model, bore Georgia license number 19-628, motor number 1,327,392 and car number 1,255,974.

per cent of a 5 per cent cut. Another 1-1-4 per cent goes back in January.

Another provision effective today was the tightening of the law to prevent freight truck drivers from working excessive hours.

Provisions under which 500,000 students throughout the country will be supplied with a third of a pint of milk daily also were inaugurated today. Sir Walter Elliott, minister of agriculture, visited a big London school and drank a glass of milk to initiate the new system.

The children are charged a cent a glass, but those unable to pay get the milk free. The government has set aside $5,000,000 for this purpose.

HIGH COURT TO HEAR RUTH DEAN'S APPEAL

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Mississippi supreme court today set down for hearing on November 26 the appeal of Dr. Sara Ruth Dean, comely woman physician of Greenwood, convicted by a Leflore county jury of the slaying of Dr. John Preston Kennedy, her professional associate, and sentenced to death.

A motion for continuance of the case until November was sustained today by the high court while further review is made of the voluminous records from the recent trial of five weeks.

Dr. Dean was accused of giving the physician a poisoned "whisky highball" at a farewell meeting between the couple in Greenwood.

West Virginia NRA Law Held Unconstitutional

WELCH, W. Va., Oct. 1.—(AP)—West Virginia's NRA law, placing the state's police powers behind the enforcement of codes, was held unconstitutional today by Circuit Judge Beno F. Howard.

Judge Howard said the act is not a valid exercise of the state's police powers.

His ruling was made in denying a petition of Prosecuting Attorney Wilson Anderson, of McDowell county, for an injunction to restrain C. G. Killen, a saw mill operator, from allegedly working his employees more than 40 hours a week and paying some of them less than 28.5 cents an hour as fixed by the lumber and timber products industry code.

Poderjaj Extradition Refused by Austria

VIENNA, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Austria with "regrets" declined today the demand of the United States government for the extradition of Captain Ivan Poderjaj, husband of Agnes Tuferson, Detroit and New York woman who has been missing since January. Under the extradition treaty between the two governments, it was pointed out, perjury does not constitute an extraditable offense.

Poderjaj, a Yugoslavian, therefore will be freed and the fate of Miss Tuferson will remain as much a mystery as ever.

Austrian authorities also notified Washington that Susanne Ferrand, with whom Poderjaj lived in Vienna, will be released from jail if no demand was made for her extradition. She had been held in connection with the case.

Chesterfields are milder Chesterfields taste better

Ripe home-grown tobaccos

We begin with the right kinds of mild ripe Domestic tobaccos. Then we age and mellow them like rare wines for flavor and taste.

Aromatic Turkish tobaccos

Next we add just the right kinds and the right amounts of Turkish tobaccos to give Chesterfield the "seasoning" that helps to make them taste better.

Blended and cross-blended

Finally we "meld" these tobaccos together the Chesterfield way—different from any other—to make Chesterfield a milder better-tasting cigarette.

NEW AIR AGENCY URGED BY COFFIN

ers of new inventions increasing safety. 6. Legislation treating navigable air of the United States in the same manner as navigable waters of the country. Finally, Senator Bingham urged that the commission recommend revision of present air postage rates to permit the sending of "air gram" letters through air mail at 3 cents each and postcards for two cents. He described an air gram as a single sheet of regulation size stationery which might be folded and sealed in such a way as to eliminate the necessity of an envelope. Such a letter suited to needs of large business houses would result in a tremendous increase in the volume of air mail and produce added revenue through the sale of air mail stamps, he said, explaining the aeronautical association has made surveys leading to this conclusion.

Senator Bingham told the commission that he was not enthusiastic about the use of lighter-than-aircraft for land operations, declaring it to be more suited to long water flights. "The United States," he said, "should lend financial assistance for the establishment of regular lighter-than-air lines crossing the Pacific and the Atlantic. Such a service would greatly reduce the time of mail service between this country and Chinese commercial centers like Hong Kong and Shanghai."

"The commission should take cognizance of the successful operations of trans-Atlantic Zeppelin service by Germany between Europe and South America. The Zeppelin service to South America has proven to be of great advantage to Germany in her foreign trade."

Franklin K. Lane Jr., a member of the commission, asked the witness whether it was his idea that the government should give financial assistance to American companies initiating transoceanic dirigible service.

"Unquestionably," replied Senator Bingham. "The airship should be considered as a part of our merchant marine. The government might very properly lend large assistance to any company establishing Zeppelin service across the Atlantic and Pacific."

He suggested that the airship be constructed under the supervision of the navy department, and designed for use as naval scouts in time of war.

Coffin Outlines Plan.
Questioned by Chairman Howell on the proposal for setting up a new department of aeronautics in the government, Mr. Coffin, one of the pioneers in the aviation industry, said that this would seem to be entirely feasible, adding that the experience of leading European powers.

"This seems to be definitely proven by the experience of foreign powers," said Mr. Coffin, "and I would give three cheers if the commission should go this far in its recommendations."

"Whatever members of the commission may see fit to incorporate in their recommendations of future policy will certainly fall of lasting results unless this commission provides also a properly constituted and authoritative agency charged with full responsibility for the execution of any program that may be laid down."

"Any central authority," said Mr. Coffin, "designed to control or definitely influence the activities of all existing branches of aviation would, of necessity, under our present governmental setup report direct to the president either through a new cabinet portfolio as department of air or as one of the independent offices such as the national advisory committee for aeronautics. There is also the possibility for possible discussion of a cabinet department of national defense, having subdivisions of war, navy and air."

Mr. Coffin said that in lieu of a separate air department, "it would seem that the national advisory committee for aeronautics might be made to serve out its purpose."

"May we not very properly consider such necessary amendment of the statute creating this body that such alterations in its personnel may be made and the scope of its duties so broadened that it may assume the responsibilities of the needed co-ordinating and exercise of supervisory authority for insuring the execution of all parts of the national program," he asserted, adding that this might be better than creating another bureau in our "already complicated governmental mechanism."

Questioned by Edward J. Warner and Commander Joseph C. Hunsaker, two members of the commission, as to whether military or commercial influence would dominate a new government department charged with administration of air function, Mr. Coffin said that because of our vast distances a distinctly commercial flavor would be given operations of the proposed new department.

"We may very well place commercial aviation at the head of the scale in this country," he declared. "In this respect the situation is quite in reverse in Europe."

Oceanic Service Seen.
Predicting that regular air service between the United States and trans-oceanic countries could be established through airships or otherwise within the next few years, the witness urged the commission to recommend a program that will advance the beginning of such service.

"Already we have seen the fruits of international air service. South American countries have been brought so close to the United States by the development of our air service that European countries are tremendously disturbed over their trade relations."

Elaborating on his proposal for the establishment of a government institution for training pilots, Mr. Coffin said he was skeptical of the present system of widely scattered flying schools and believed the government should set the standard with an air academy having equal rank in importance with West Point and Annapolis.

In the opinion of the witness the growth of air mail and air transportation business will be so great within the next few years that further government subsidies for development of the industry will not be needed.

"The value that will accrue to us in the next 10 years from our development of air traffic to South America will be so great that we can forget the modest expenditures now being made on aviation," he concluded.

"There is no question but what the air lines in the future will be able to operate profitably without governmental subsidy."

FRESH EVIDENCE CLAIMED BY N. J. IN LINDY PROBE

mediary of the $50,000 ransom at St. Raymond's cemetery in the Bronx. Although the request for a psychiatric examination was made originally only by Defense Attorney James M. Pavey—supposedly to study the possibility of an insanity defense—Foley said New Jersey officials wanted at least three psychiatrists to examine Hauptmann and that he wanted several physicians to represent him at the test.

He said one of the psychiatrists would be Dr. Philip Goodhart, a professor of clinical neurology at New York University. Dr. Goodhart has aided Foley in several other cases.

Search Renewed at Home.
As the thorough digging and search at the Hauptmann home in the Bronx was renewed, three old automobile license plates were found imbedded in the concrete foundation of a lily pool in the yard.

This gave impetus to the work of the searchers, who were determined to dig up the entire yard and dissect the house from top to bottom, if necessary, to account for all the $50,000 ransom money fruitlessly paid by the noted flyer for his son's return.

With the totals already accounted for approaching $200,000—including the $14,500 found in the garage—District Attorney Foley disclosed Hauptmann openly making two trips to banks to turn in $1,800 in gold certificates.

This was on March 13, 1933—the last day on which, by terms of President Roosevelt's gold proclamation, persons could turn in gold or gold certificates.

Foley at once started a check to determine if these bills, too, were part of the ransom. The bills were passing the "hot test" money in the world went to the federal reserve bank, turned in $580 more in gold certificates and obtained legal tender for them.

"Hiding Places" Explored.
Every conceivable hiding place at the Hauptmann home has been explored. The roots of bushes have been excavated, but have been made out the foundations of the house, a good share of the yard, particularly about and under the garage, has been dug up.

Today workers searched drain pipes and plumbing fixtures—remembering that it was in the plumbing in his jail cell last week that Hauptmann had fashioned into a sharp-edge weapon.

Hauptmann's work bench in the garage was torn apart and the top loaded on a pile of old newspapers. These plans were taken to the laboratory set up in Jersey police barracks by Arthur Koehler, federal research expert in forensic science, who is tracing the origin of the kidnap ladder of death.

Already Koehler has traced the lumber in the ladder to a Boston firm where Hauptmann would be before the kidnapping. With the planks, it was presumed he would study tool markings to determine if Hauptmann's fingerprints found in the garage were in the construction of the ladder.

VIRGINIAN RELATES MYSTERIOUS CONVERSATION.
DANVILLE, Va., Oct. 1.—(AP)—J. C. Roach, 50, a Pittsylvania county orchardist, said today he is sure he saw Bruno Hauptmann, the kidnaper, in the Lindbergh kidnapping, and the late Isadore Fisch, named in connection with the case, sitting in a marked car near Danville the night of May 21, 1932.

Roach said printed photographs of Hauptmann and Fisch had convinced him that they were the men he saw. He said he had been at the edge of the woods beside the road when a green sedan drove up and stopped, the headlights were switched off and the two men got out. He said he saw them, but he was only a few feet from the car.

Mr. Roach persuaded a motorist to carry him several miles to Charlotte, N. C., where he said he saw the two men in a car. He said he had heard to the police there. He said the authorities had been looking for the car. His own car was broken down, however, and by the time he was able to reach Charlotte, the men in the green sedan had had ample time to continue south. The department of justice was not notified, so far as is known here.

The conversation of the men, as quoted by Roach, was as follows: No. 1: "I've been hearing that ever since we left New York. We're just as safe in one place as in another." No. 2: "If I'd known you were going to kill the baby, I would not have got mixed in it."

No. 1: "Didn't you get your share of the split?"

Roach said one of the men spoke with a foreign accent, and the other in a high-pitched voice.

ENCOUNTER WITH HAUPTMANN NEAR HOPEWELL, TENN.
CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Federal agents tonight were looking for William B. Dennis, a civil engineer, to question him in the Lindbergh kidnapping case soon after he was quoted as having said he was "absolutely sure" that he saw Bruno Hauptmann a few miles from the Lindbergh home the night of the kidnapping.

The Herald and Examiner, in a copyrighted story, said Dennis had recognized newspaper pictures of Hauptmann, German alien held as a possessor of part of the $50,000 ransom money fully paid in efforts to obtain the safe return of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., infant son of Colonel Charles Lindbergh.

Dennis could not be reached immediately for a statement, but the local office of the federal bureau of investigation said he would be questioned as soon as he was located.

The Herald and Examiner quoted Dennis as saying he recognized Hauptmann from pictures as the man who had had him on a side road near Hopewell and borrowed his tire pump that night.

Dennis, the newspaper said, related that the stranger was accompanied by a woman about 20 years old and a second person "Whom I judged to be a man, but whose face and head were entirely covered with an old-fashioned horse blanket."

love there all the time?" asked Mrs. Whitney's counsel.

"All afternoon and most of the night."

"Did you ever see the prince in Mrs. Vanderbilt's bedroom?"

"That's a very delicate question." Then she testified: "I got up when Mrs. Morgan (Mrs. Laura Kilpatrick Morgan, mother of Mrs. Vanderbilt) awakened me and looked into Mrs. Vanderbilt's room. The door was ajar."

Mrs. Keisch said the time was between 2 and 3 a. m.

"How long were you there watching them?"

"Five or six minutes. She seemed to have been crying."

"What was Prince Hohenlohe doing?"

"He was beside her. He had on pajamas and she was in night clothes," Mrs. Keisch testified that was the only occasion she found the prince and Mrs. Vanderbilt in such circumstances.

She said Prince Hohenlohe frequently read to Mrs. Vanderbilt and that she saw magazines with pictures of nude men and women in them tossed carelessly about the house.

Gloria was not in court. Mrs. Whitney was there, severe and dignified, garbed in modish black. She sat in the second row.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Consuelo Shaw, sat much of the time at a table with her attorney. She wore a black tailored ensemble, a trim black hat and a silver fox fur.

She listened eagerly to the testimony, pursed her lips frequently and occasionally tossed her head in emphatic gestures. She wept once or twice when testimony turned to her late husband, as did the nurse.

Attorneys said Prince Hohenlohe's first name was Frederick, and that he was 25 or 26 years old. Mrs. Keisch said he was practically "a member of the family" and that while Mrs. Vanderbilt was in Biarritz, he had a room on the same floor across the hall.

Mrs. Keisch wept in telling of illnesses suffered by Gloria from what physicians said was lymphatic gland trouble. She said Mrs. Vanderbilt was told to take Gloria to a warm, sunny climate, but that nothing was done about it.

In Mrs. Vanderbilt's New York home, she testified, "the men had all the kinds of liquor they wanted." She said she didn't see any cocktail parties, however.

Concluding her testimony, Mrs. Keisch charged the life of Gloria with her mother was marked by "greed, managing and manipulating" because of the fortune the child inherited, but did not amplify her remarks.

Mrs. Keisch proved a truculent witness, specially when she was cross-examined by Nathan Burkan, Mrs. Vanderbilt's attorney. She blurted answers sometimes before Burkan could complete his questions and had to be warned several times. Once Justice Carew turned to her and said: "My dear madam, you have teeth in your mouth."

Hundreds of Engagements Arranged for Advocates of Program.

Plans for several hundred engagements for speakers of the Community Chest campaign were formulated Monday night at a meeting of the speakers' bureau at the Healey building dining room, August 13.

Prominent Atlantans during the chest drive will address civic clubs, social organizations, church congregations and other groups to acquaint the public with the beneficial character of the Community Chest disbursements annually. More than 60 well-known speakers are members of the bureau. Many engagements will be made for them in the course of the next several weeks.

Robert F. Maddox, president of the Community Chest, who is in Washington, D. C., attending the conference of citizens' committees of the 1934 Mobilization for Human Needs on invitation of President Roosevelt, sent a message Monday night to Willis Milner, chairman of the speakers' bureau. President Maddox said the bureau is better this year than ever before and that greater results are expected for 1934 than in any previous year.

Frank Miller is director and secretary of the Community Chest and G. K. Selden, an official of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, is president of the Atlanta Welfare Council. Milner presided at the session.

Mansfield acting as hostess.

Mercolized Wax Absorbs a Soiled Complexion. A woman need never cease to have a young-looking complexion if she will adopt the simple Mercolized Wax habit. Mercolized Wax actually takes off the skin complexion with all its imperfections. The newer and livelier skin, which then appears, has that rare beauty and freshness that only a youthful skin can possess. The natural process of flaking, which occurs with the skin at the end of the year, and in most conditions of ill health, is hastened along by the Mercolized Wax treatment. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty of your skin. Powdered flaking reduces wrinkles at the age line. Simply dissolve one ounce flaking in one-half pint of water. Use daily as an astringent lotion.—(adv.)

'Dizzy' Dean Asks Frisch To Let Him Pitch Series Opener

His Honor, the Mayor, Is Sold on the Pitching Fools, Those Deans!

It seems to me things are always happening in our town. Interesting things.

There was yesterday for instance when the day began with a luncheon given at the Atlanta Athletic Club by Colonel F. J. Paxton in honor of John Collier, the United States commissioner of Indian affairs, and then a ride through town behind a police escort, and then the Indians at the fair—authentic Indians—not show Indians.

And then we were riding back and on the front seat of the automobile was Mr. James L. Key, my personal nomination for the world's finest mayor.

"Wiley Moore has offered me his airplane and I am going to fly to the World Series at St. Louis," he said. "Those Cardinals are all fired up and they are going to win the series," said his honor, the mayor.

Now, this was in direct contradiction to an idea of my own which was that the Deans, having won the pennant several days ago, had been able to relax and rest and would be in tip-top shape.

And that, on the other hand, the Cardinals, having had to sprint to the finish, would have left their game in the regular playing season and would be slowed down and weary in the World Series.

"How are you going to beat those Dean boys?" asked his honor, the mayor. "They are fiends in human form."

This was a very pertinent question because I do not see how anyone is going to beat the Dean boys unless it is in a poker game and the dealer deals someone four aces. And even then the Dean boys might get away with it by having a fifth ace somewhere.

Oh, yes, I hear you over there. You are saying that "Schoolboy" Rowe will be in there. Well, he will. But even so, I think the Dean boys are better, especially the one known as Dizzy.

Everyone can speak with authority on the subject of relaxing and what the psychology of the chase will be. But that is because no one knows anything for sure about it. The mayor was hankering on facts when he mentioned the Dean boys. I rather imagine one can write in the Cardinals as having two games won.

My idea about this has been that the Deans would beat the Cardinals with seeming ease because the Cardinals would have a let-down and the Deans would be pitched dry.

But the mayor had me again. "The Deans don't pitch dry," he said. "I see you don't know the Deans."

We'll have to wait and see. But I still like the Deans.

QUITE A WALLOP.

There was quite a wallop having lunch yesterday with John Collier, the first Indian commissioner with the Indians and their welfare as his whole mission.

It was interesting to hear him tell of the Navajo tribe and their reaction to the New Deal—no straggling, supine waiting for aid. The Indians, hardly able to believe that the New Deal from Washington is a square deal, are going to work to reclaim their lands from erosion and the inroads of the desert. The Navajos and the Pueblos have made work a distinction.

And at lunch there sat Manuelito, an old Navajo who is 86 years and who remembers when Kit Carson came with an army and herded his people together and marched them away from their homes to herd them in a corral for four long years.

And there were Cherokees who remember "The Trail of Tears" from Georgia to Oklahoma, when 16,000 started in midwinter and 4,000 died from exposure and illness. That is a sorry chapter in Georgia history.

Sitting there watching old Manuelito in his Indian dress, handling the white man's knife and fork and eating his food—well, I wondered what thoughts went through his mind which reaches back through 86 years of history.

John Collier is an Atlanta man and he and the administration have great plans for the Indians, of which there are a quarter of a million in America and 20,000,000 on this western hemisphere, where there were but 10,000,000 when Columbus came with his ships.

It would be a great and a magnificent thing if they could bring some of the Cherokees back to Georgia and their old home, placing them on the government land in north Georgia. Some day Georgia will do that, making some restitution for that shameful trail of tears.

RALPH DE PALMA.

This thing seems to be running into a sort of Pepys diary for the day. But last night there was dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph De Palma—you know, the fellow the traffic cop always mentions when he orders you over to the curb and says: "Who do you think you are, Ralph De Palma?"

The greatest race driver who ever lived—he's still here after 26 consecutive years of the roaring brick and dirt and wooden tracks—the old Italian luck stick with him.

They are all fatalists, these race drivers and their wives. And Mrs. De Palma worried, but probably no more than the ordinary wife, when George announces he is going to drive down to Augusta on business. She had confidence in De Palma and his skill. But she's glad he has quit racing.

And she, too, believed in the old Italian luck that brought him through 26 years and 2,889 races, of which he won 2,550.

After dinner there was a movie of some races and things about cars—sitting there in the dim light and watching the cars whirl by up there in the flickering light of the screen and then seeing the gray-haired fellow with the young face up there explaining about one of the cars—he was driving it. Things like that give me a great life in it.

AND TODAY, THE COUNTESS.

And today there is a luncheon for the Countess Irina Skarintina, my personal nomination for one of the loveliest persons in the world. Her books are all grand. In the afternoon there is a tea at Rich's book shop to which the public is invited. The greatest book on the Russian revolution is hers, "A World Can End." There is a paragraph in there about listening to the feet of the revolution go by which will stay with you forever. The countess is one of the interesting events scheduled for our town today.

OH, YES, THOSE FOOTBALL TICKETS.

While the absorbing subject seems to be the Dean boys it would be wise not to forget those football tickets for Tech and Vanderbilt. That's one of the high spots—at Grant field Saturday.

CARDINALS OFF TO FACE TIGERS ON WEDNESDAY

'Wise Boys' Figure Card Boss Will Start Bill Hallahan.

By Paul Mickelson.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1.—(P)—Frankie Frisch's madcap Cardinals, as co-leaders of World Series glory as their own great Dizzy Dean, headed for the fair of Mickey Cochrane's Detroit Tigers tonight.

They were a trifle exhausted and their nerves were slightly frayed as a result of their dazzling drive past the routed New York Giants for the National league flag. No one of them knew for sure who was going to pitch in the World Series opener, but to a man they were confident of twisting the Tiger's tail.

"Leave it to us," promised Dizzy to the excited fans, who blew the old town wide open last night with one of the most tumultuous celebrations St. Louis had ever staged. Then the big fellow, who clinched the pennant yesterday by shutting out the Cincinnati Reds, 9 to 0, for his thirty-first victory of the season, looked up Manager Frisch to make another plea for the right to pitch the series opener Wednesday.

FRISCH UNDECIDED.

Manager Frisch was set on the rest of his starting lineup, figuring to use the same team that clinched the pennant yesterday, but he was still uncertain as to the wisdom of sending Dizzy to the mound after only 72 hours of rest. He wanted to give his arm the assignment, but wanted him to get his chance at his very best.

Although the starting pitcher represented a problem to Frisch, the wise ones tonight figured "Wild Bill" Hallahan would be sent to the mound for the first engagement against the heavy-hitting Tigers. "Wild Bill" has had indifferent success this season, but he stood the same Tigers on their tails in exhibition games this year at Detroit and Battle Creek.

In the Detroit exhibition, the one Dizzy Dean missed at the personal expense of $488, Hallahan gave but five hits and the Cardinals won 7 to 1. Most of the Detroit regulars were in that game. Added to Bill's success in those exhibition games is the fact he ranks as one of the greatest money pitchers in baseball, having won three and lost one in the World Series of 1930 and 31 against the Athletics.

PAUL AFTER DIZZY.

If Hallahan doesn't draw the assignment, James Otto Carleton, who has a side arm curve that baffles the hitters when in control and whose peculiar style of delivery always puzzles first-time batters, may be named. Carleton is noted as a cool-weather pitcher.

Paul Dean, star freshman of the team, will be a sure starter all right, and could hurl the opener, but is almost a cinch to follow his brother Dizzy. Bill Wertz, the Cardinals' left-handed pitcher, will be the backup starter, giving Frisch a pitching staff that succeeded in turning in 15 shutouts—seven of them by Dizzy—in the National league race this season.

The rest of the probable starting lineup and the respective batting averages of each player follows:

Moore, 3b.	.287
Rothrock, rf.	.286
Frisch, 2b.	.306
Medwick, cf.	.318
Collins, 1b.	.328
Delaney, c.	.316
Orsatti, cf.	.301
Durocher, p.	.258

Orosi will perform as the right-handed pitcher, being relieved by Chick Fellers in case a southpaw dishes 'em for Detroit.

A full rest was given the players today, but upon their return tomorrow morning in Detroit, the team will hold a brisk workout at Xavin field. Twenty-one players will compose the Cardinals World Series force.

Foxx Signed For 3 Years By Mack

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—(P)—Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, today answered the many reports that his hefty slugger, Jimmy Foxx, would not be with the team next season by announcing that the first baseman had been signed to a three-year contract, and that he was expected to be the A's regular catcher.

Mack also announced he had obtained Alex Hooks, first baseman of the Tulsa, Okla., team and that Hooks would be tried at first base.

Ever since Mack sent Mickey Cochrane to Detroit and Lefty Grove to Boston, there have been rumors that the former home run king would be the next to go.

Recently Mack became impatient at the many reports and Foxx would not be traded, but the reports persisted. Even after Mack made his announcement today, a baseball observer remarked, "Well, he still can be sold."

In announcing that the Maryland broadcast had signed, Mack gave no intimation what salary Foxx will receive.

GAYLORD MEETS STEELMEN TODAY

Gaylord and Atlantic Steel will begin their series to decide the city champion of the City Amateur Baseball league at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Almand park diamond.

Gaylord Containers, city amateur champions last year, won the last four of the City league in a playoff series, which the Atlantic Steel team won. Gaylord won the deciding game Saturday, by the score of 9 to 8 at the ball park.

And now the two teams, each having won the title in one-half of the last season, are to begin their battle for the complete league championship.

The second game of this series is scheduled for Thursday afternoon.

Telegraphic Shoot Won by Texan

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 1.—(P)—H. F. Weiland, of Paris, Texas, was announced today the winner of the national telegraphic shoot championship.

'Iron Man' Infield of Detroit Tigers

Here is the Detroit Tigers' "iron man" infield, ready and anxious to swing into action against St. Louis, the National league pennant winner, in the World Series. With the exception of one day off for Hank Greenberg, who enjoyed a holiday on Yom Kippur, this quartet played the entire season without a vacation, something unheard of in baseball today. In addition to being a snappy fielding combination, all four are .300 hitters, too. Left to right, they are Marvin Owen, third base; Bill Rogell, shortstop; Charlie Gehringer, second base, and Henry (Hank) Greenberg, first base.

PETREL COACH SHIFTS LINEUP

Coach John Patrick announced several changes in his Oglethorpe University eleven Monday afternoon as the Petrels started practice for their game with Citadel Saturday afternoon at Augusta.

At quarterback, Perry will replace Clark, who is suffering from a shoulder injury. Another change in the Petrel backfield will send Leslie to right halfback in the place of Moon. Pickard, big Petrel guard, has been shifted to end to replace McNamara, who is injured. McNamara is not expected to be back in the lineup until the Chattanooga game. Robinson, who was hurt in the Auburn game, will be replaced by McGaughey, whom Coach Patrick is grooming for the game Saturday.

Reynolds and McHenry are still nursing injuries and will probably be out of the lineup for two weeks more.

Coach Patrick will charge hard this week in order to have his best possible lineup ready for Saturday's game. The Petrels are showing plenty of spirit and pep.

BULLDOGS HOLD LIGHT WORKOUT

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 1.—Unhampered by any major injuries from the Stetson game the Georgia Bulldogs went through a light workout this afternoon with Coach Harry Mehre giving the squad a chance to rest up from the bruises and strain of the first tilt of the season.

The backfield and flankers concentrated on a pass defense in the Furman attack, which was deceptive according to Coach Vernon "Catfish" Smith, and "Tiger" Bennett, who scouted them in the Wofford game Saturday. Coach Mehre, in a lecture before the afternoon session, pointed out the mistakes made against the Mad Hatters. The backs and guards were working together offensively to get better co-ordination in their running attack, a phase which was ragged and inconsistent in the Saturday game.

Over in one corner of the field the scrubs, under Chick Shiver, were receiving instructions on the Furman plays that they would imitate against the varsity in a scrimmage tomorrow. The scrubs brought back a report of a strong defensive Furman eleven.

Allen Shi and Charlie Opper, varsity tackles, were back in uniform today and working with the squad after having been out for over two weeks while Shi was hurt last Tuesday. Cy Grant, who was kept out of the Stetson game due to a minor shoulder sprain, was also working out in uniform to complete the list of injured Bulldogs that have returned to the fold.

Dixie Players To Split $9,243.48

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—(P)—With 16,576 paid admissions registered for the first four games, the players' share in the Dixie series amounts to $9,243.48.

Officials tonight announced that the winner's share will be $5,549.00; the loser's share $3,694.48.

KLEM'S 17TH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(P)—John A. Heydler, president of the National League, today named William J. (Bill) Klem and John E. Reardon as the league's umpires to work the World Series with the two American league nominees. This will be the seventeenth post-season classic in which Klem has acted as one of the umpires.

'Schoolboy' Rowe Tells His Story

(This is the third of a series of five articles telling how the young pitching ace of the Detroit Tigers, who recently equalled the American league hurling record of 18 straight victories, started his career as an all-around athlete in a small Arkansas town.)

By JOHN P. CARMICHAEL.

(Copyright, 1934, by The Constitution and the Atlanta Constitution Newspaper Alliance)

So to Beaumont went "Newboy" Rowe, carrying along his own bottle of wintergreen liniment, with which he rubbed his arm after each game, and the lucky coin that the woman in the Bastrope bank had given him. The liniment was gone in two days; the coin he kept until last year, when he lost it on a road trip with the Tigers.

"It must have dropped out of my watch pocket at night on a train," he said. "But I don't see how I could have done much better this year with it anyway, could I?"

Managing the Beaumont team in the spring of '32 was Del Baker, now a coach of the Tigers. Rowe was slated to go to Evansville, Ind., in the Three-I league. One day Baker decided he'd have a good look at the young hurler. He called for a fast one and took it rocking back on his heels. His eyes popped. A curve. Up it came. Not so hot.

"Of all the dinky roundhouses, I had it," grinned the lanky guy, his big hands—he can hold seven baseballs in either one—fluttering over the crease in his brown suit. "It barely turned over. But I'd never needed it."

"Now your change of pace," queried Baker.

"What change of pace?" queried Rowe. Baker flashed him a glance. No, he wasn't kidding. Del explained it to him. . . . about a quarter speed ball, delivered with all the motion of a fast one. "I'll try it some time," grinned Rowe. Baker nodded, then called for another fast one and got set. Rowe wound up, swept into his trademark stride and threw. Baker almost fell on his face reaching out for a perfect change of pace ball. To this day Baker will tell you he never saw one as good. "I told you I'd try it some time," Rowe called to him, and Baker tore up that ticket to Evansville. Then Rowe went out and beat Fort Worth, leader of the Texas league, in his first professional start.

PAUL BATTLE FOR HIM.

He won 10 and lost 7 for Beaumont that season. On his team were Hank Greenberg, Tiger first baseman this year, and Pete Fox, outfielder. Rowe was a local boy, a native of Beaumont. They still room together as they march on to triumphs in the big league. It was Greenberg who saved Rowe in a game in Washington with a mighty home run that paved the way for "Schoolboy's" sixteenth consecutive victory, placing him in baseball's Hall of Fame.

Talking about Rowe the other day, Greenberg, who refused to join the Yankees because they "had a pretty good first baseman already," said to me:

"You should have heard him swearing at me when I hit that homer in Washington. He almost strangled me in the dugout. I couldn't do it for a grander fellow, either."

In Beaumont, of course, "Newboy" Rowe was succeeded by "Schoolboy" Rowe. Three of the first five Fort Worth victories were won by Rowe. In the third strike, so the umpire told them. They couldn't see it themselves. An irate Fort Worth fan belted from the stands:

"Don't let that schoolboy strike you out! What's the matter?"

Rowe heard him, too. "Later on in the game, some of our fans started kidding me," he said, "calling me 'Schoolboy,' and I had a hunch it was going to stick. I knew it when I beat Chicago, 3-0, that day in Detroit last year. Oh, I know it before, but I wondered if it would stick if I stuck."

Rowe was a very much surprised young man that afternoon he shut out the White Sox in his first major league triumph. "I didn't expect to do that good right off the bat," he confessed. Then, in another burst of

YANKEES VOTE SERIES MONEY

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(P)—The New York Yankees met today and voted their split of second place, or "consolation" money, the amount of which must of necessity wait until the World Series melon is cut.

It is expected each full share will total around $800.

The club voted full shares to Manager Joe McCarthy and every player except Catcher James Taylor; and likewise gave full shares to Coaches Arthur Fletcher, Joe Sewell and John Schmitz and Earl Painter, the trainer.

Taylor, who did not join the club until after the injury to Bill Dickey, will receive half a share.

Mark Roth, club secretary, was given three-quarters of a share, and George Uhle and Harry Smythe, pitchers, who spent a few weeks with the Yankees early in the season, will divide half a share.

Walter Owens, groundskeeper, was given $250; Fred Logan, clubhouse man, received half a share, and James Mars and Edward Bennett, mascots, will get $300 and $200, respectively.

PROTHRO QUILTS MEMPHIS CLUB

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 1.—(P)—Manager "Doc" Prothro, of the Memphis Chickasaws, said today that he expected to sign up with another Southern association club within the next few weeks.

"My connection with the Memphis baseball club has been terminated today by mutual consent," Prothro said. "I would like at this time to express my deep appreciation to members of the press and public for their loyal co-operation during my seven years in Memphis."

Prothro declined to say where he would seek a connection, but he admitted there were two clubs in the Southern where he might open negotiations. He said he had turned down an offer to manage an American association club.

Since coming to Memphis as manager in 1928, Prothro has won one pennant, finished second three times and in third place twice.

Thomas R. Watkins, president of the Chickasaws, said he had done five work here, is a great character and manager and we wish him all the success in the world wherever he goes.

Watkins said he would take his time in choosing a successor. Frank Braxill, a former Chick and manager of the Greenville (Miss.) East Dixie league team the past season, is being mentioned, as are a number of others.

DETROIT BOSS MAY CROSS FOES, START CROWDER

Rowe Logical Pitcher to Open Against Cardinals.

By Edward J. Neil.

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—(P)—The annual hysteria known to the national pastime as the World Series rocked Detroit again for the first time in 25 years today as Mickey Cochrane's Tigers and the city as well whirled about to face the old familiar St. Louis Cardinals, headed by the new baseball heroes, the Brothers Dean.

The Cards, with rubber-armed Dizzy Dean rotating in the van, and his ill brother Paul silently nodding assent, aren't due into the motor vehicle capital until tomorrow from St. Louis, where their last-ditch comeback against the Reds finally decided the National league championship when the Giants broke up in the face of the indignant Dodgers.

But tonight, though the battle call doesn't sound for the first time until Wednesday afternoon, the faithful were staggering around on their heels from the excitement of the first World Series here since 1909, the first between two western clubs since the White Sox scandal of 1919, the arguments over the possible starting pitchers, and the battle for seats at Navin field that holds 47,000 but not nearly enough.

TIGERS WORK OUT.

While the Tigers went through a two-hour drill inside, thousands of customers milled and massed in the streets outside the field exchanging their orders for tickets. Each day here there will be 20,000 unreserved seats sold in the morning. The struggle for them looms as entertaining as the general engagement between the rifling Deans and the clotting Tigers.

Today, the odds were even money and take your choice, and heaven be with you if your choice was the Cards and a real husky Detroit rooter happened to hear you. From the Tiger side the Deans will be hit as the even 300 slugging Bengals have hit every thing they've faced on the way to their easy American league triumph.

The problem was merely how long it would take mighty young Schoolboy Rowe, the cagey veteran Alvin Greenberg, curve ball Tommy Bridges, curly Fipiro Marberry, and possibly young Elmer Ayler, to stow away Detroit's first World Series victory.

There were all kinds of rumors that the rival master minds, Frankie Frisch and Cochrane, would top off their first full season with a triumph over major league clubs with some of the fanciest, two-handed juggling any World Series pitching staffs ever have encountered.

ROWE LOGICAL ONE.

The cold-blooded logic of the situation called for Cochrane to start Rowe, who changed on a diet of boos from the home crowd, and to start the spring to the sturdiest right-hander in the league, winner of 24 games while losing only 8. Similarly there were no other choices for the Cards.

But Cochrane, in the manager's mind, might lean toward the same sort of a surprise man, and the home crowd, if they were possible, Big Brother's final shutoff of the Reds, his second in three days, was his 30th victory of the season.

BUCS ROUT FOUR PEL PITCHERS IN FIFTH GAME

Galveston Blasts Out 16 Base Hits in 11-9 Victory.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Galveston Buccaneers blasted out 16 base hits over a conglomeration of New Orleans pitchers to get back into the running of the Dixie Series, though still trailing by one game, with an 11-9 victory.

Hitting freely in every inning but the seventh, the Buccaneers scored six runs in the first two frames, added another in the fourth and two each in the sixth and eighth to swamp four Pelican hurlers and assure their necessary victory.

The Pelis had only to win the game today to retain their Dixie Series championship. The Buccaneers entered the game trailing by two full games. Now only one game behind, Galveston is very much back in the series and, if the Buccaneers win tomorrow, will be all even with the Pelicans.

Charlie English drew three singles and a mighty triple to lead the Buccaneers at the plate, bringing in six runs in the wake of his powerful blows. Governor Bell and Moses, the Buc outfield, aided considerably with their sticks in driving Bryant, Milner, Messenger from the mound and mak-

Odds Favor Cards; Terry To Pass Up This World Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals are 13 to 10 favorites to beat the Tigers in the World Series which opens tomorrow at Detroit, according to quotations issued tonight by the Robert Darnell Company, Wall Street betting commission.

The Cards were 6-to-5 favorites to take the first game. The Darnells said betting was heavier than last year before the Giants-Senators series. They handled more than $65,000 today, they said, and plenty of Detroit money is showing.

Jim Tierney, club secretary, and Lefty O'Doul will be the only Giants at the World Series, according to a poll of players and officials. Manager Bill Terry said it would be too humiliating for him to attend, although he hoped the Cardinals won.

New York's loss of the World Series was a blow to the Steve Hannas Art Lasky heavyweight fight slate for Friday night at Madison Square Garden. When Promoter Jimmy Johnston set the fight date he was figuring on World Series crowds. However, the fight will go through as slated.

William J. Klem and John E. (Beans) Reardon today were named by President John H. Dwyer as National league umpires for the World Series. This will be Klem's 17th series, and Reardon's first.

THREE WOMEN TIE FOR MEDAL; MISS KIRBY OUT

Leaders Score 82 for Honors; Miss Maddox Cards 92.

Miss Kirby Fails In Qualifying Play

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The youngest and oldest players in the field, Dorothy Kirby, 14, of Atlanta, and Mrs. R. H. Barlow, of Philadelphia, 71, failed to qualify today for the women's national golf championship at the Whitmarsh Valley Country Club.

Six strokes separated them. Miss Kirby carded a 97, while Mrs. Barlow, who played in her first national 21 years before, shot the course in 103.

By Bob Cavanaugh.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Playing over a course soft from rains and lashed by a stiff autumn breeze, three members of the American Curtis cup team, victorious over British side last week, covered the par 72 White Marsh Valley Country Club links in 82 today to tie for the medal in the 18-hole qualifying round for the thirty-eight women's national golf championship.

The co-medalists were Glenna Collett Vare, five times former titlist, who gave birth to her second child less than three months ago; Lucille Robinson, of Des Moines, tall and sturdy western champion, and Mrs. Leona Cheuey, of San Gabriel, Cal., who has been a championship threat since 1927.

They finished one stroke in front of Molly Gossard, veteran British links woman, and Mrs. Carl H. Donner, of Short Hills, N. J., who had 85's, and two shots better than Mrs. Harley Hable, of Detroit, who stood alone at 84.

THIRD TIE. By somewhat of a coincidence it was the third time in the past four years that the fight for medal honors has resulted in a deadlock. Mrs. Vare, Mrs. Hable, Maureen Orent and Mrs. Opal Hill tied for it with 82's in 1931. Miss Virginia Van Pelt and Miss Orent shared it in 1929 with 77's, and Enid Wilson, of Great Britain, snatched it last year with a sparkling 76.

The three pace-setters of the 64 qualifiers who included eight players from the British empire out of a field of 148, topped the performances of their fellow Curtis cup players and the teams combined totals easily outshone the consolidated efforts of the British international team.

Collectively, the Americans scored 42 strokes lower than the Britons. With three exceptions the British team qualified all of its members. Those who failed to make the grade were Mrs. George Coats, of Scotland; the 17-year-old Pamela Barton, the baby of the squad, and Mrs. J. B. (Pat) Walker, Irish champion.

BRITISHERS FAIL. Beset by White Marsh's swampy turf, the inquisitive Wissahickon creek that cuts and winds its way through eight fairways, and 122 brutal-looking traps, Mrs. Coats blew herself to a 97, while the red-haired "Pat" just failed to get under the wire with a 94—one stroke above the qualifying maximum. Mrs. Walker was eliminated in a playoff at 93 by eight players from two places. Charlotte Glutting, New Jersey champion; Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Burt Weil, of Cincinnati, Ohio, titleholder, were grouped with 85's; Estelle Lawson, of Chapel Hill, former North Carolina and South Carolina champion; Miss Van Wie, the defending champion; Wanda Morgan, of England; Frances Williams, of Allentown, Pa.; and Dorothy Traugott, San Francisco youngster, had 86's.

Deadlocked at 87 were Marion Fischer, of New York; Mary Rogers, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Helen Schoff, of Philadelphia, and Barbara Stoddard, of New York, while a stroke behind them was a select group which included four internationalists: Miss Orent, Mrs. Frank H. Goldthwaite, of Dallas; Marion Miller, of Lexington, Ky.; and the golden-haired Diana Fishwick, 1930 British champion, and 16-year-old Betty Jameson, of Dallas, and Jean Kier, of Detroit.

The remainder of the Curtis cup players finished as follows: Diane Plumpton and Doris Chambers, the non-playing captain, of England, 90's.

Margaret Maddox Qualifies With 92.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—Margaret Maddox was the sole Atlanta entry to qualify. She shot a 92. Dorothy Kirby took a 97 and failed to qualify. Miss Maddox meets Charlotte Glutting at 9 o'clock.

Darrow's Pupil Honored.

JEFFERSON, Ohio.—(UP)—Judge James W. Roberts, one-time law pupil of Clarence Darrow, has just been named chief justice of the appellate court of Ohio. In 1880, the Chicago criminal lawyer, then a struggling barrister at Andover, Ohio, near here, took young Roberts under his tutelage. He passed the bar the next year.

Series Broadcasts Okayed by Landis

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Prohibition of the broadcasting of the World Series play by play from press association reports was withdrawn yesterday by Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner, who sent the following telegram to the United Press:

"My office forwards your telegram quoting telegram from Chairman, E. H. Rogers, of the publishers' national radio committee, that newspapers, if they desire, may broadcast World Series play by play from their press association report over stations which they own or with which they are affiliated, provided there is no commercial sponsorship.

"This proposed use of these reports is entirely agreeable to Ford Motor Company, according to telegram I have received from N. W. Ayer & Son, speaking for that company.

"KENESAW M. LANDIS."

The March of the Deans.

Genghis Khan left a blazing trail
With a killing drive as the nations fled;
Attila marched and the world turned pale
Where his thundering huns turned the highway red;
But back to the rumble of poisoned hoofs
From out of the west, where the sun goes down—
And machine guns wait from the city's roofs
As the terrible Deans reach Tigertown.

Hannibal's elephants, over the Alps,
Handed the jitters to ancient Rome—
The Red Men struck for the paleface scalps
As the tomahawk fell on the white man's dome;
And Sherman swept to the open sea,
Leaving a smudge that was bare and brown.
But today the women and children flee
As the terrible Deans reach Tigertown.

Step by step, they are on the way,
Their ju-ju drums sound a deeper note—
But the stalking Tiger still seeks his prey
With a snarl and a growl from his throat;
Cochrane and Gehring, Goslin and Rowe
From Oregon to the rampancy with growl and frown;
But the hoofbeats come from the marching foe,
As the terrible Deans reach Tigertown.

The Southwest's Civil War.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 1.—The southwest's civil war is on. The two Deans, from Holdenville, Okla., and "Schoolboy" Rowe, from El Dorado, Ark., are all set to decide the glory of the brush and bush and sage.

There was a report that an army of workmen was busy digging new trenches around Detroit, arranging machine gun emplacements and setting up barbed wire entanglements against the invasion of the terrible Deans and the confident Cardinals, who tackle the alert Tigers Wednesday afternoon.

It is not known yet whether dum-dum bullets or poison gas will be allowed, as the inhabitants of this beleaguered city got ready to sell their lives as dearly as possible.

One of the big stories here is that three young men from the brush, average age twenty-two, are gripping the close attention of many millions from the Golden Gate to Maine—from Oregon to the Carolinas, and don't jump Arkansas, Texas or Oklahoma en route.

For the epic of this series belongs to the southwest. The sudden switch from the Cardinals left a slight trace of poison in Detroit's early confidence.

The Giants were looked upon as easy picking, but the terrible Deans, Popper Martin, Frank Frisch, Medwick, Collins and others make another story. Scarperry Mike Cochrane will admit nothing of the sort. "We had to beat them," he said. "We've had to beat good pitching before. They all look just about the same to us—just another job to handle, and they are all tough in this game."

But many of his Tiger supporters are none too sure these cobra-venom-ed Deans can be whipped four times in seven games. That's almost a season's job.

The Sizing Up.

It's anybody's scramble now—due for a seven-game run on the dope. Many Tiger supporters believe the two Deans are just about due to start skidding with a brace of home runs and heavy elbows. Also, that the 17-year-old Pamela Barton, the baby of the squad, and Mrs. J. B. (Pat) Walker, Irish champion.

They finished the campaign at top speed, apparently at their best. After all, Ed Walsh pitched sixty-six ball games in 1908, won forty of these, saved twelve others and won the hardest battles of his long and successful career.

Dillman, the Greek butcher, is regarded as one of the most rugged men in his class and he comes here with an impressive list of victories. He will extend Radcliffe to the limit.

Another match that will attract its share of the fans is the one between Jack Ross and Eddie Wayland, former Tennessee star. Wayland is a veteran of more than 100 matches and is highly regarded as a light-heavy.

Tarzan Jordan and Al Olson, the terrible Swede, will open the show. Fans holding tickets for last week's show will be admitted on those tickets next Friday night. All the Key arena fans will turn out for the first indoor show put on by the promoters.

STAR FULLBACK TO KNOW FATE LATER IN WEEK

Coach Alex to Make Decision on Friday Night.

By Jimmy Jones.

A decision of big moment to Georgia Tech's football followers will be rendered by Coach W. A. Alexander on next Friday night.

He will decide whether Jack Phillips, the Jackets' captain and star full back will play against the Vanderbilt Commodores in Tech's second game of the season on the coming Saturday.

Mr. Alexander made this announcement following yesterday's practice during which Phillips ran at his old position at fullback for the first time since he was cracked on the knee while throwing a forward pass in scrimmage more than three weeks ago.

WILL KNOW FRIDAY. "I wouldn't take a chance on permanent injury to the boy for the sake of beating Vandy or anybody else," Mr. Alexander stated. "But if Phillips continues improving and feels that he wants to play, I may play him. At any rate, I will not make a decision until Friday night."

That Captain Phillips is very eager to play against the Commodores, there is no doubt whatever. In fact, he was just as eager to play against Clemson last Saturday. But Coach Alexander, who has a higher regard for his players, than for mere victory, would not consider taking a chance with his knee. Consequently, if he decides to let Jack Phillips play against Vandy, you may bet your last dollar that he is able to play.

QUITE AGILE. The big Tassel was prancing about on the turf with a lot of agility yesterday for a man who is supposed to be crippled. While he engaged in contact, the Monday work being one of the dummy variety, he was coming out fast on blocking assignments and looking very chipper on the whole.

Coach Alexander had fully intended holding Phillips out of action until the game with Duke in Durham Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The trotting races were the opening sports feature of the Southeastern Fair that opened Sunday at Lakewood.

My Mickey won a special match race. The first, worthy in the first event Monday, Time, 2:23.

The north Georgia championship event was won by Charlie Grimes, with Chisunee and Dancing Dan trailing, Time, 2:20.

Colonel Lynn won the state championship trot in 2:15, with Eastern Harvester and Peter Arimo trailing.

May Harvester won the Green Race and was trailed by The Warrior, Peter Diamond and Stonewall Jackson.

Mike Benton captured the half mile running race, which was possibly the most interesting of the afternoon's events.

TED RADCLIFFE FACES REAL TEST

When Ted Radcliffe, Tech High star, is installed as one of the outstanding light-heavyweight wrestlers in the south, goes into the ring Friday night at the auditorium against Joe Dillman, he will face one of the hardest battles of his long and successful career.

Dillman, the Greek butcher, is regarded as one of the most rugged men in his class and he comes here with an impressive list of victories. He will extend Radcliffe to the limit.

Fox Hunters Open 1934 Trials Today Near Monticello

MONTICELLO, Ga., Oct. 1.—Fox hunters here today begin the seventeenth annual field trials of the Georgia Fox Hunters Association, which starts near here at sunrise Tuesday morning.

Ham Holland, president of Round Oak; Jake Hogan, secretary and treasurer, of Macon, and other officials of the organization are already on the scene and everything is all set for the first cast. Derby hounds will be tried out first and given an opportunity to do their stuff before the large number of devotees of the sport.

One of the highlights of the week's program will be the annual fox hunters' ball to be given Tuesday night in Tucker's garage, to which everybody is invited. A nine-piece orchestra from Macon will furnish the music for this occasion.

Wednesday morning at sunrise the all-age hounds will be entered in the cast. Wednesday night has been left open for the guests to do as they please.

At sunrise Thursday morning the third cast will be made, with the derby hounds in the race. Thursday night the visitors will be complimented by the citizens of Monticello with an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue.

He is an all-around athlete and gets much fun out of the different sports. Since coming to the Cracker Club, the prince has attended almost all of Weber's shows.

Buck Weaver, 240-pound grappler, will attempt to put a stop to Chewacki's rampage on the mat. He is a big tough customer and should give the dizzy Indian a real battle.

George Hills, 220-pounder, will tackle Billy Edwards, Wisconsin lumberjack, in the one-hour match. Tickets are on sale at the Piedmont Hatters. Tonight at 6 o'clock they will be placed on sale at the auditorium.

The first match starts at 8:15 o'clock. Those holding stubs from last week's matches, at which a substitute was made, will be permitted to purchase a seat anywhere in the auditorium for 40 cents on presentation of the stub.

Bonowitz Takes Charge at Club

Joe Bonowitz, athletic director of the Jewish Progressive club, took over his duties yesterday and immediately went to work.

Joe announced that he would hold his first men's business classes of the fall session tonight, from 6:30 to 7:30 and 7:30 to 8:30. All members are invited.

By FREDERICK GARDNER

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Stocks took the downhill path with commodities today while the dollar gained in international prestige.

Share prices crumbled easily under a moderate flow of liquidation. It was the first day of full federal control of security exchange and some of the brokers coupled the thinness of the market with the new restraints on speculation, although trading has been at low ebb for months.

Commodities Drop

The decline in commodities, with wheat off as much as 3 cents a bushel and cotton down to $1.15 a bale at the close, joined with other influences in depressing stocks.

Grain prices, which President Roosevelt's address would have a share in, were extended later.

Averages Decline

The Standard Statistics Company average for 90 stocks yielded nearly 10 points, the sharpest decline since July.

United States government bonds were inclined to react weakly, but most were in the security list, but most were in the security list, but most were in the security list.
